Mission

The Regional Housing Coalition (RHC) will inform community members, coordinate diverse partners and resources, and catalyze solutions to address housing attainability and affordability needs in Gallatin County.

“At the One Valley Community Foundation, we know that regional challenges need regional solutions. We believe that in order to influence escalating affordability issues, we need both shovels in the ground building homes and the Regional Housing Coalition to address upstream issues like wages, childcare, and conflicting policies.”

BRIDGET WILKINSON

One Valley Community Foundation President and CEO

What Will the Coalition Do?

Coordination and Cooperation

An ongoing forum for agencies, organizations, and interests to cultivate partnerships and to accelerate projects and results across Gallatin County.

Attract Capital

Invigorate and support regional funding sources for below market rate home preservation and development, as well as housing related programming and service delivery.

Advocate

Advocate for policies and programs that support the needs of our community members and the related goals identified by the RHC.

Public Education

Report on housing concepts and data in easy-to-understand terms. Inform and activate the public and foster engagement in decision making.

Contribute to Decision-Making

Use publicly available and original data to assess evolving housing needs throughout Gallatin County's population and geography. Provide research, data, and stories to decision makers in order to inform government policies, private investment strategies, and employer decision-making.

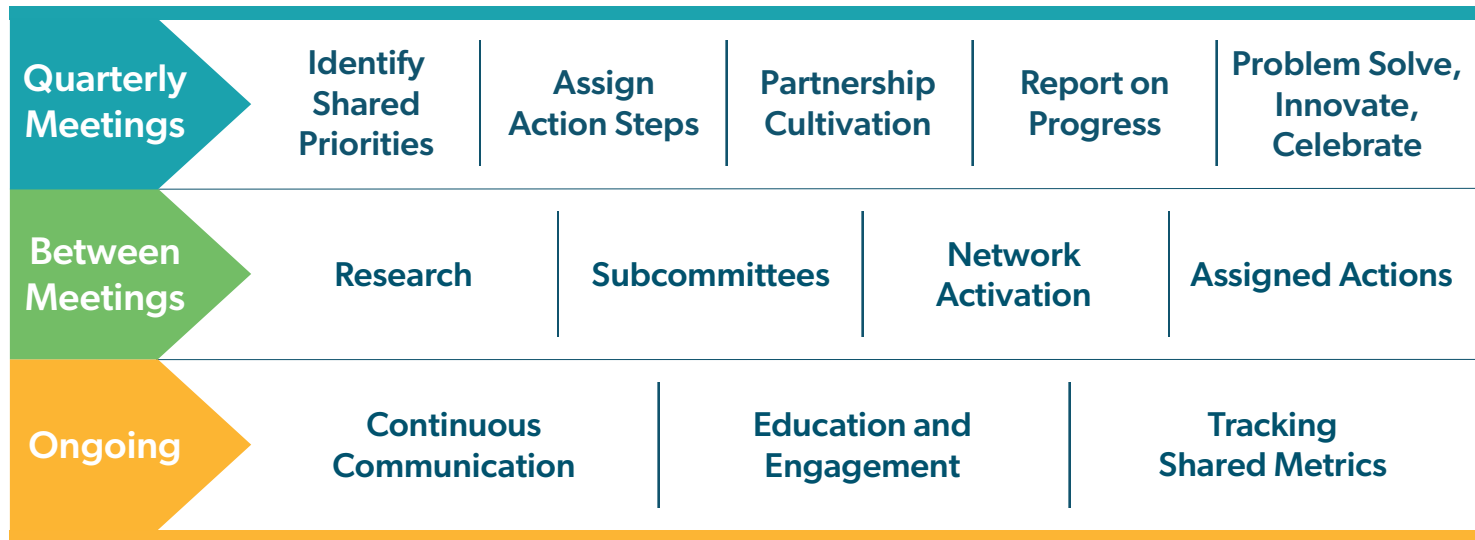

Accountability

Measure progress on identified goals by tracking progress and impact metrics on a public dashboard.

What is One Valley's Role in the Regional Housing Coalition?

The coordination of partners, funding, and solutions is critical to addressing housing affordability and availability challenges in Gallatin County. This creates the opportunity for One Valley Community Foundation to do what it does well: marshal resources, convene partners, and provide accountability and structure for collective action.
